May Day is Labor Day

May 1st, or “May Day” is also a day to honor labor in Germany. This month we honor the White Worker everywhere with an excerpt from a journal article written in 1938 by Dr. Harlow J. Heman, Professor of Political Science at the University of Michigan (USA). The title of the article is Labor Relations in National-Socialist Germany.

After Adolf Hitler became national chancellor at the end of January, 1933 little time was lost in bringing the blessings of National Socialism to the German wage-earning classes. The following May the existing trade unions were largely liquidated, and the first of May was declared to be a day which no longer would be utilized to honor the international proletariat, but would be made an occasion for the commemoration of German national labor in its service for the Fatherland. A law of May 19, 1933, provided for the appointment by the national chancellor of labor trustees who were to serve as economic leaders over the districts under their jurisdiction.

They were given full powers to maintain industrial peace and to regulate detailed phases of labor relations. Within a period

9. How do we know that the Bolsheviks want to conquer Europe and the world?

Lenin has again and again in his books called for the conquest of Europe and the world. His guidelines are firm elements of Bolshevism. Stalin feels himself as executor of the Bolshevik doctrine. He stresses again and again the validity of Lenin's doctrine. Essence and goal of Bolshevism are the same today as back then, when Lenin wrote:

"Our goal is fixedly the achievement of the domination of the world... To permanently shape the Bolshevik victory through the total destruction of the once leading states will encounter as little resistance as this was the case in Russia. The rule of the Soviets knows neither freedom nor justice. This rule rests on oppression and destruction of every individual will. But we are the masters. The oppression is entrusted to us. Ruthlessness to the maximum is our duty. In the fulfillment of this duty, unrestrained cruelty is the highest service. Through complete tyranny—in whose service stands even any treason, any breech of promise, even the denial of the faintest shadow of justice—we will reduce mankind to the final level of equality, which alone makes man suitable to become an easily controlled, uniform tool of our power."

Today nobody will doubt that Stalin endeavors to carry out this doctrine down to the detail!

10. How did Stalin win the folks of the Soviet Union for Bolshevism?

First, in that he painted a glorious future through a deceitful propaganda to the people of the Soviet Union.

Second, in that he created the Bolshevik human type through rigorous education methods.

To the first point. Stalin managed over the course of 20 years to make the folks of the Soviet Union ripe for the Bolshevik assault against Europe and the world. He initially sealed off the Soviet Union hermetically from the rest of the world. No Bolshevik was allowed to learn of Germany's economic and cultural rise. He concealed his secret goals with skill. He managed to direct the Bolshevik's gaze from the horrible Soviet present into a future painted in the most beautiful colors by propaganda. Stalin awaked in the Bolsheviks the faith in a paradise of the workers, which was supposed to first come to realization in the Soviet Union and later be carried by the Bolshevik fighters into the whole world. Russian man was very susceptible to such ideas. Writers like Tolstoi and Dostojewksy, after all, had already praised the Russian world mission and Europe's redemption through the Russian world folk. With unbelievable deceit, Bolshevism referred to a similar kind of Messianism, and this is certainly not the final reason why the Bolsheviks today sacrifice themselves at the front for Stalin and the Bolshevik idea.

Bolshevism cleverly managed to stir up the yearnings of the folks of the Soviet Union. "Bolshevism—so it went—was the guarantee of genuine socialism, the liberation of the suppressed folks and classes, the creation of a paradise of the workers, freedom and human rights." With these theses, something in Russian man was addressed, which had long since been formed in the community of the orthodox (Greek-Catholic) church, namely the idea of having to redeem the world (Slavophile doctrine). No wonder, if these deluded slogans had its effect among the inhabitants of the Soviet Union, if many embraced Bolshevism and wanted to follow it over the ruins of a world into the much praised future.

To the second point. Bolshevism had to be carried by the broadest possible Bolshevik intelligentsia stratum after one had eliminated in of four months rapid strides along the road to national-socialization of employer-employee relations had been made. The early successes, as well as later progress, were possible, according to Dr. Ley, the head of the political organization of the party, because the government followed a policy based upon "a healthy combination of freedom and compulsion."

The leadership principle (Führerprinzip) used in National Socialist political rule was applied to the Labor Front as well. The leader of the Labor Front was Dr. Ley, who was also the head of the political organization of the National Socialist party. German employers and employees were his followers. Membership in the Labor Front was open to employers, as well as employees, who were Aryans and who were not disqualified from citizenship. At the end of 1937 Dr. Ley was proud to announce that

Italian vacation offered to German workers

24,000,000 Germans were enrolled as his followers.

The Labor Front was not merely an organization to facilitate the party's control over employers. It performed numerous functions for its members. Among the more important of these was a legal-aid bureau with headquarters in Berlin and with offices in each of the district bureaus of the Labor Front. The legal-aid service was divided into two branches, one for employers and one for employees. The personnel of this service was to give legal advice to members, to act as investigators and arbitrators in labor disputes, and to represent members in court if necessary.

Closely associated with the Labor Front and administered by it was the Kraft durch Freude ("strength through joy") organization. This movement made it possible for persons of small means to enjoy educational and recreational facilities which might ordinarily be inaccessible to them. Cruises to foreign countries, holidays by the seaside, hiking trips, and excursions were arranged for those who belonged to the Labor Front. Athletic grounds were built near places of employment, library facilities were made available for workers, concerts were provided for, and touring theatrical companies were sent to workers' communities. According to Dr. Ley, within two years approximately 52,700,000 persons had attended the 142,000 entertainments organized by the entertainment section. He also said that in the same period more than 6,000,000 persons took advantage of the travel facilities offered. These figures, if accurate, indicate that the "strength through joy" movement is not inactive.

Horst Mahler

Breaking News

After Horst Mahler delivered a moving speech on January 19, 2017 (“We fight in order to win”, see <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=SsEK0inc02A>) the Superior Provincial Court of Brandenburg revoked his probation for “thought crimes”. Mahler was supposed to report to prison on April 19, 2017.

Earlier, namely before this court decision, he had been declared unfit for imprisonment due to his health and was allowed to be in the circle of his family. His previous imprisonment and resultant poor medical care had worsened his health so much that his left lower leg had to be amputated. If his wife had not been so persistent, he might have died in prison—which the German government obviously was willing to accept.

Horst Mahler has by his own account fled, since this incarceration in view of his health would be the same thing as a death sentence. He will now seek asylum in a “sovereign state ready to accept him”.

He has left behind a final video message: <https://youtu.be/VAMQfE-FOn4>

Both videos are well worth watching!

We wish Horst Mahler the best and stand by him!

the most brutal manner the Nordic leadership stratum. Bolshevism saw a great task in the creation of this stratum, for without it, it could not undertake its program.

The Bolsheviks founded numerous schools, from the university down to the elementary school, Jews and proven Bolsheviks were the directors and educators in these schools. The Soviet Union’s schools—regardless of what kind they were—were all subordinated to an idea: they served as organ for the Bolshevization of the populace and as means to realize Bolshevism down to the most extreme consequence.

“Without communism, we need no education”, that is the unconcealed tendency of Bolshevik education. Education and knowledge thus come under a whole new light. “They are not acknowledged as absolute values, rather they are only the assigned the meaning, which they have as means for the dissemination of Bolshevik ideas.”

At the universities, a special chair was founded for Marxism. Every student—whatever he wanted to study—had to participate in the course “Leninism”. Some 180 lectures and 80 seminary hours, in which one occupied oneself exclusively with Marxism, opened every university education. One hence first studied Bolshevism for semesters, only then law, medicine or another subject. That must give us thought, if we want to solve the puzzle that Bolshevism presents to us.

The instruction in Bolshevism is the replacement for any arts activity. Nobody is given the task to research truth and life’s meaning. In the Soviet Union’s “Promised Land”, one claims to have found and discovered in Bolshevism the final and highest knowledge of mankind. The Soviet Union wants to bless the world with this truth. But one must force a world, which foolishly rebels against Bolshevism’s goal setting, to “its happiness” or destroy it. Those are the ideas, which shaped Soviet man’s brain.

The folk expected great advantages for itself from the Bolshevik's system of education and training. For Bolshevism took the exact opposite path than Czarist Russia, which saw in education a great danger for the state. The youth pounced on science with its whole heart. Bolshevism cleverly managed to intercept and steer youth's impulse.

In the long run, the Bolshevik idea alone did not pacify, the wish for new ideas and non-partisan literature became awake. But the Bolshevik rulers allowed the students no opportunity for free scientific research, rather continued to feed the restless with Bolshevik political science. The textbooks of all schools began with the glorification of the Soviet regime and with hate-filled bespitting everything earlier and foreign. The scientific values were reversed, or more accurately: falsified. Subjects like history and literature had to undergo an especially horrible handling. The communist tendency was woven like a red thread through all of science.

One can read what one will in the Soviet Union, one always and everywhere encounters Bolshevik ideas. It lies in the nature of the thing, if Soviet man gradually harbored the wish for another intellectual nourishment and forced Bolshevism to concessions. At first, Bolshevism resisted, then it gave in. Works of world literature appeared, but naturally in "Soviet editions", which are all slanted toward Bolshevism. Commentaries diligently lay out the idea that all writers were pioneers for Bolshevism. They all write about peasants and workers who downright scream for Bolshevism in order to be liberated from the crushing servitude under landowners and capitalists. All of mankind's cultural history from the Greeks onward appears in Bolshevik literature as the development of Marxism, which has finally found its realization in Russia and must spread from there for the benefit of mankind. Marx, Lenin, Stalin are great men at the end of this development, who have made the liberation of all folks through Bolshevism their great life task.

11. Why do the Bolsheviks fight with the greatest animosity?

The false doctrine of Bolshevism has been so hammered into them that they believe in the correctness of the idea with unerring fanaticism. One lies to the Bolsheviks that Soviet Russia in a Bolshevik paradise, but Germany were a Nazi hell!

The Jews could hardly find a more willing tool than Russian man. His European-Asiatic nature could hardly serve him better. The readiness for a modest life full of suffering and deprivation and his naivety, but, on the other hand, his Asiatic capacity for the crudest brutality, had to seem to the Jew as if summoned for his sinister plans. The "world blessing" doctrine of Marxism could nowhere take root quicker than in the Russian soul, which yearned for redemption. And there could hardly be a human being on this earth more capable of being fanaticized, who with primitive stubbornness and thoughtless brutality pursues the goal dangled before him.

One has for years now gone over to a large-scale political and ideological schooling. With the greatest expenditure in means and personnel, the Bolshevik soldiers are politically schooled and ideologically educated. This belongs to the official tasks of every military leader!

Precisely now in war, the schooling is carried out especially intensively. Up to eight hours per week are spent in the units for this important work! Leninism, Marxism and Stalin's ideas, in addition, Russian history, are eagerly studied. Each unit has its special work groups and the necessary libraries for this. The regiments have a cleverly structured school system, which is managed intensively under the guidance of the commissars.

One proceeds psychologically very goal consciously with the schooling and thereby holds the soldier under the idea's spell with suggestive force. Every means is utilized for this. For example, one does not say: "The enemy stands there", rather: "The Fascist stands there" or "This Fascist machine-gun it to be taken out." The Red Army's invincibility is pumped into every soldier. The Soviet soldier's self-awareness is especially elevated, aside from

Censorship and suppression are a growing threat!

Censored Books, suppressed books, banned books, and outlawed books need your help!

In some countries the government outlaws books and imprisons authors, publishers, and book distributors.

In other countries private businesses give in to pressure and suppress book distribution. These banned books might not disappear altogether, but it becomes very hard for the average person to find them.

That is where this web-site enters the picture. Censored-books.com provides a central source location and it strives for search engine optimization (SEO) both for itself as a web-site and for the individual book titles.

Publishers, authors, and private individuals are urged to submit listings for books that are outlawed, banned, censored, or otherwise suppressed. Note: There is NO cost or obligation!

that discipline is escalated to the most extreme.

With the thesis “folk under arms for the defense of the homeland”, Bolshevism’s true intention is veiled.

Furthermore, the schooling in patriotic dialectics takes place in the sense of imperialistic Bolshevism.

The pan-Slavic drive for expansion, Russian man’s sense of mission is cleverly exploited for colonizing, for the taking of earth.

It is noteworthy that 70-80% of the Bolshevik officers come from the Communist Party.

The hatred against National Socialism is incited to the most extreme. Its doctrine is portrayed as capitalist exploitation system.

Soviet Russia is designated as the land of the highest achievements of cultural and civilizing kind, the Russian folk as the culture-bearers of the whole world. Art and science are characterized as Russian or Bolshevik in their origin. Germany and the west are rotten and decayed. The folks can be redeemed only through Bolshevism (exploitation of Russian man’s tendency to Messiahism). Furthermore, the old folks have now perished. Now it is the turn of the folk of the USSR to take over the rule over Europe. Soon there will no longer be a Europe, it will be Soviet Russia!

The results of the political and ideological education are the patriotic Bolshevik, who fights with contempt for death in the greatest readiness for action for his Soviet Russia and the Bolshevik ideas in Stalin’s following. In criminal manner, one has fanned his tendency for atrocities into animalistic wildness.

One asks oneself again and again why the Bolshevik soldier fights on even under the most unfavorable conditions. The cause for this is the Jewish-Bolshevik power of ideas and the idea of the Soviet paradise and Soviet rule, which one has inserted into the Bolshevik in clever and resolute mental-psychological influencing.

The Russian army would have long collapsed, if it had not been so persistently schooled politically and ideologically.

The Bolshevik soldier is an especially fanaticized, politically and ideologically schooled soldier! He fights for his Bolshevik idea and his Soviet world paradise!

This is why the Bolshevik represents such a dangerous threat to the whole occident. Many a European, yes, many an Anglo-Saxon would tremble inside, if he wanted to recognize Bolshevism’s true face.

The German soldier protects in heroic struggle, like so often already in history, the whole civilized world against Asiatic subjugation!

12. What fate would the Bolsheviks prepare for our parents, siblings, our wife and our children?

Our parents would at best keep their naked lives and be forced to compulsory service for the Bolsheviks. Our sisters and wives would be violated and dishonored, dragged off to Siberian and Northern Russia, if one did not simply let them starve to death or liquidate them. Our children would come into a communist community education and would in a short time be rotten in body and soul.

The legacy of our ancestors, our homeland, our sacred soil, our culture would be deconsecrated and destroyed by Bolshevik hordes, the modern Huns.

Now it should be proven whether what was shaped in millennia of long struggle and work by our ancestors should have permanence or not.

Now it is about which worldview triumphs: The Jewish-Bolshevik evil spirit [Ungeist] of materialism or the creative worldview of Germanic idealism, National Socialism.
